Economic Development Today

A Telecast on New Directions and Opportunities in Rural Economic Development Tuesday, May 4th from 3:00 – 4:00 P.M. EDT

The telecast will focus on issues raised in EDA-funded study, "Competitiveness in Rural U. S. Regions: Learning and Research Agenda." Topics to be addressed include:

- The critical importance of coordinating economic development strategies in rural and adjacent urbanized areas.
- A discussion focused on alternative approaches for rural America; relying on the once advantageous labor costs it offered is no longer valid due to cheaper labor available off-shore. This will require developing an alternate strategy that includes a series of specialized, strong clusters that enhance a region's performance. Clusters suited to rural America will also be a focus of the discussion.
- Enhancing entrepreneurship in rural America and its role in bolstering rural economies.
- How to access federal programs with resources available for rural economic development efforts.

How To Participate In The Telecast

DISH Network: To view you need a subscription to the DISH Network basic service package. The University House Channel is 9411. For programming information go to: www.universityhouse.nau.edu and click on schedule.

Cable Access: Upon request, you may have access to public TV through an association with public access to education and government programming.

Host Facility: To participate, locate a host facility with either KU Band or C Band capability that will allow you to use their downlink. Most public buildings as well as many universities and colleges offer satellite reception capability with viewing rooms. You will need to provide the facility management with the satellite coordinates. We are asking you to sign up for the telecast so that we can keep a record of participants. If you have difficulty locating a viewing facility, contact Peggy Tadej at 202-986-1032, ext. 224.

About the Economic Development Information Coalition

To provide information about Economic Development Administration (EDA) programs and economic development practices, EDA has put together the Economic Development Information Coalition (EDIC). EDIC is made up of the International Economic Development Council (IEDC), the National Association of Regional Councils (NARC), and the National Association of Development Organizations (NADO). They have joined EDA to disseminate information to economic development practitioners serving distressed communities.
